

Get the Point(s)

The body parts of this person are sized to match the number of nerve endings in the brain(Sensory Cortex). For example, the hands are very large because of the large number of nerve endings (around 100 touch receptors for each fingertip) there.